PARENT TEACHERS' MEETING

ORGANISED BY DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

Date: March 04, 2024

Objective of the Programme:

The Department of Political Science at Gargaon College organized a Parent-Teacher Meeting (PTM) on March 04, 2024, with the primary aim of enhancing the overall well-being of students. The Programme aimed to create a strong bond of parent, teacher and student relationship.

Overview of the Programme

The meeting commenced with introductions where teachers from the Department of Political Science introduced themselves, providing an overview of their roles, expertise, and commitment to student development. Parents were also invited to introduce themselves, fostering a sense of community and collaboration.

Following the introductions, parents were given the opportunity to share their perspectives, concerns, and expectations regarding their child's education and wellbeing. Parents expressed their desire for open communication channels with teachers and emphasized the importance of holistic development beyond academics.

Teachers from the Department of Political Science delivered speeches focusing on their approach to teaching, support systems available for students, and strategies for promoting student wellbeing. They highlighted the significance of a supportive learning environment and encouraged parents to actively engage in their child's education journey. Dr. Paban Gogoi, an Associate Professor of the department gave an insightful speech and expressed his views on teaching and learning. He raised some concerns as a teacher about the prospects of students in the job market after completion of graduation. He urged the parents to look after their children and encourage them to study properly. He stated that the combined efforts of the parents, teachers and students are essential for a better result.

Yuvaraj Gogoi, an Assistant Professor of the Department, also expressed his views on the topic. He urged that the quality of patience is very important in student's life. Gogoi stated that co-curricular activities should be equally given importance along with scholastic areas.

Views were also expressed by other faculty members of the department. Bhaswati Bordoloi, Bishnupal Hazarika and Ankur Bhattacharya stressed on dedication and patience for a good career.

Head of the Department, Dr. Ramananda Das, in his speech urged the students to inculcate good qualities along with pursuing their studies. He also highlighted before the audience the vision and perspectives of the department for the current semester.

Key Outcomes:

Enhanced Communication: The PTM facilitated open communication between teachers and parents, enabling both parties to exchange valuable insights and information regarding student progress, challenges, and support needs. This strengthened communication channel is crucial for addressing concerns and fostering a collaborative approach to student wellbeing.

Parental Engagement:

The speeches by parents provided teachers with valuable feedback and insights into parental expectations and concerns. This increased parental engagement is essential for creating a supportive home environment that complements the efforts of teachers in promoting student wellbeing and academic success.

Teacher-Parent Collaboration:

The PTM emphasized the importance of collaboration between teachers and parents in supporting student wellbeing. Through mutual understanding and shared goals, teachers and parents can work together to identify strategies and interventions that address the diverse needs of students, ensuring their holistic development.

Conclusion:

The Parent-Teacher Meeting organized by the Department of Political Science at Gargaon College was a significant step towards enhancing the overall wellbeing of students. By fostering communication, collaboration, and engagement between teachers and parents, the meeting laid the foundation for a supportive learning environment that prioritizes student success and holistic development. Such initiatives play a crucial role in nurturing the potential of students and preparing them for future challenges. The vote of thanks was offered by Yuvaraj Gogoi.
